STAFF FUNCTIONS

- The Staff has one essential function: that of extending and making the negative of every movement.
- The Staff is your extension.
- Point of amplification, concentration and transmission.
- It is a true extension, and you yourself become your Staff in these particular conditions.
- It is your simulacrum. What happens to you has a correspondence in your staff (not vice versa).
- The staff takes and gives, collects and amplifies.
- It amplifies what we think.
- Antenna.
- Also used for dowsing, in search for water, it is a balanced antenna (dowsing).
- Enter into symbiosis with your Staff.
- In order to trace you must have energy, otherwise it is like turning on the television without having electricity.
- Tracing means that you are prolonging your figure and bringing it into another environment, you change dimension. To project energy means to bring to another dimension your three-dimensional magical drawing, your energetic structure, as our body has been defined so many times.
- Your Staff, once prepared, can cross the circles without interrupting what you have done inside.
- You can do an infinite number of operations that have to do with space, with time, with density, with others, with yourself.
- The Staff, if you have loaded it, becomes an opportunity to manage and use the elements that you will have gradually prepared.
- It is a battery that accumulates the exercises you do, the emotions and so on.
- The Staff is you, your alter ego, it represents the living part.
- Inside the Staff there are fractions of vital units that are not consumed and are strengthened with use.
